

Non-exhaustive list of non-academic secondment hosts

[Updated November 2022]

During their fellowship, DOROTHY fellows are encouraged to undertake a 3 to 6 month secondment in an area of work relevant to their research on public health crises within a non-academic organisation. This secondment can be undertaken at any point during the fellowship, and can be planned at proposal stage or arranged once the fellowship has begun. All non-academic settings (e.g., non-profit, governmental, NGO, industry) will be eligible. Should a secondment not have been envisaged at proposal stage, it can be arranged at a later stage (i.e., once the fellowship has begun), in agreement with the supervisory panel. Where applicable, reasonable relocation expenses will be treated as eligible research costs.

The following organisations within Ireland have indicated an interest in acting as potential secondment hosts for DOROTHY fellows, where there is alignment between the organisation's mission and the topic of the DOROTHY applicant. This list is not exhaustive or exclusive. Fellows will be able to propose alternative non-academic secondment hosts.

Please note that responsibility for organising the secondment rests with the applicant. Applicants should agree their non-academic secondment with their supervisory panel. Applicants' main supervisors must be aware of secondment plans and may be involved in designing and arranging the secondment, along with the applicant and secondment host.

The Irish Research Council is not able to advise on secondments or facilitate contact between applicants and potential hosts.

Potential hosts are grouped below according to category:

Public sector

Nonprofit & research

Medical & pharmaceutical

Industry – Bioscience & chemical

Industry – Technology & engineering
